

Scott M. Schlauder, M.D.

Dr. Scott Schlauder is a Board-Certified Dermatopathologist, having completed both a residency in Pathology at the University of South Florida and a fellowship in Dermatopathology at the Tufts University School of Medicine in Boston, Mass.

Dr. Schlauder's expertise in the field of dermatopathology centers on the ability to understand potential causes of skin diseases at a cellular level. Working hand in hand with other dermatologists, Dr. Schlauder's years of clinical experience provide the expertise necessary to diagnose and treat the underlying causes of skin disorders.

Dr. Schlauder is a member of several professional societies, including the American Society of Dermatopathology and the College of American Pathologists, among others. His work has been published in numerous scientific journals and he was recently a featured speaker at the 2010 Dermopath Diagnostics Spring Fling, held in Orlando.
